

AI Visibility Snapshot

The free 10-minute self-check · Version 1.0 · Updated 2026-07-02

More and more customers ask ChatGPT, Perplexity, or Google's AI instead of scrolling search results. When they ask "what's the best coffee shop in Belgrade?", the AI names two or three businesses — and the rest don't exist in that conversation. This Snapshot tells you, in about 10 minutes, which group you're in.

THE 12-POINT SELF-CHECK

Answer honestly. Each "yes" = 1 point. Print this page and tick as you go.

Your website

- ☐ Does your homepage say, in plain words, what you do and in which city — within the first screen?
- ☐ Do you have a page (or FAQ) that answers the actual questions customers ask, written as questions with short direct answers?
- ☐ Are your headings real questions ("How much does a wedding shoot cost in Belgrade?") rather than labels ("Our Services")?
- ☐ Does each key page give a complete short answer near the top — not three paragraphs of intro first?
- ☐ Does your site have structured data (schema markup) for your business type — LocalBusiness, opening hours, address? (If you don't know, the answer is probably no. Paste your URL into validator.schema.org to check.)
- ☐ Is there a real person behind the content — a named owner, an About page, a date on your pages?

Your presence beyond the site

- ☐ Is your Google Business Profile claimed, current, and complete (hours, photos, services, correct category)?
- ☐ Are your name, address, and phone number written identically everywhere they appear online?
- ☐ Do you have recent reviews (last 3 months) on Google or another platform an AI can read?
- ☐ Are you mentioned anywhere besides your own site — a local guide, a news mention, a directory, another business's page?

The direct test

- ☐ Ask ChatGPT: "What's the best [your business type] in [your city]?" — are you in the answer?
- ☐ Ask Perplexity: "Is [your business name] in [your city] reliable? What do people say?" — does it find you and describe you accurately?

Bonus check (no point, but run it): ask an AI "I need [the problem you solve] in [your city] — where do I go?" If a competitor is the only answer, note which one. You'll want to see what their pages do differently.

YOUR SCORE

0–4

You're invisible to AI.

When customers ask an assistant, you're simply not part of the answer — competitors are. The good news: at this level, the basic fixes (questions on your pages, schema, a clean Google profile) tend to make the most visible difference.

5–8

Partial visibility.

AI engines can find you, but inconsistently — you appear for some questions and vanish for others, or get described inaccurately. The gaps are usually specific and fixable.

9–12

Solid.

You're doing most things right. Your job now is maintenance: keep content current, keep reviews coming, and re-test monthly so you notice if you slip.

Whatever you scored: write it down with today's date. Re-run this check in a month and compare. The trend is the real answer — a single AI response can vary day to day.

My score: _____ / 12

Date: _____

WANT THE FIXES, NOT JUST THE DIAGNOSIS?

The AEO Kit — €49

This Snapshot shows you where you stand. The AEO Kit (€49) shows you what to do about it: the full playbook, ~40 fill-in content and FAQ templates, copy-paste schema snippets, all 25 test prompts, and a tracking sheet — built so you can do it yourself in a weekend.

♦ ahoosh.ai/products/aeo-kit

♦
ahoosh.ai